The North Koreans have a POL dump in the mountains of Ohodong (125-17, 39-45) (XE-9602), 9 kilometers north of Chongju (125-13, 39-42) (XD-9096), which supplied their fueling stations in the air-raid shelters at Sinanju (125-36, 39-36) (YD-2386). The POL storage tank is on an isolated mountain about 500 meters high which is about 3 kilometers northeast of Ohodong. This tank is constructed of steel plates and is 5 meters wide, 15 meters long and 5 meters deep. It is at the bottom of a cave 30 meters long and 10 meters wide which has been dug in a grove of trees about half way to the top of the mountain, on the side which faces the communications lines. The POL storage tank is connected to an underground pipe line which extends along the east side of the communications lines to Chongju, through Pakch'on southward under the Ch'ŏnch'ŏn River to Sinuiju (124-24, 40-06) (XE-1930).
